

Jairus Hamilton (Film: 12-31-20 vs. Michigan)

His ability to shoot in Pick n Pop action is by far his most intriguing skill set; he knocked down in this action, taking advantage of a bigger, slower big guarding him. He also displayed an ability to hit a pull-up mid-range jumper, which he looked very comfortable doing. This was one of Hamilton's better performances of the season in a tough matchup against Michigan. Hamilton took full advantage as a small-ball center and used the pick-and-pop to create open 3's. He finished with 15 points on 3-5 shooting from 3.

He struggled to defend Michigan's Hunter Dickerson; even though he was outmatched with size and strength, he still competed and did not back down from the challenge. He also did a good job contesting every shot at the rim and being active overall.

Written by: Zachary Hoffman

LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/zachary-hoffman-36ab14170/>