

Anthony Edwards – University of Georgia – 6’5 225 – 19 years old – Freshman Draft Intel Report – October 1, 2019 Source: James Williams “Between The Lines Sports, LLC”

After the practice ended all the UGA players came over and shook the hands of the visitors who were there to watch and evaluate. There were a couple of HS coaches, several NBA Scouts, and myself. Anthony and I talked for about 15min after practice, I’d met him in passing but never just sat down and talked to him. He opened up to me pretty quickly as we discussed our similar rough upbringing in Atlanta. He told me about seeing a dead body in his neighborhood as a kid and how everyone around him didn’t think it was a big deal and that it bothered him for a few days. We also talked about his interactions with Coach Crean during practice, and he stated that he loved being Coached by him and he knew that it was only going to make him better. We also chatted about him being uncomfortable playing the PG position on both offense and defense. He stated that he was thinking too much and that he just needed to shoot when he was open and pass to a teammate when he wasn’t. He also stated that he needed to adjust to the speed, strength, and athleticism of his teammates, and he was not use to everyone’s having active hands on his drives. At the end of our conversation, he thanked me for attending and told me to have a safe drive back to Atlanta.