

Darius Days (Film 2-20-2021 vs. Auburn)

Darius Days is listed at 6'7 245lbs, and I view him as a stretch 4 due to his ability to shoot it from behind the 3pt line. He also has a high basketball IQ; he does a good job spacing the floor and makes good reads as a passer.

Offensively, he shot the ball very well from 3, going for 4-7. He hit 3 catch and shoot 3's and hit a very nice pull-up 3 right in the defender's face. He filled the lane well on a Fastbreak and got rewarded with an open layup on the right side. He only had four rebounds in this game, which I believe he could've had at least 3 more if his effort was consistent.

Defensively, he has pretty decent lateral quickness for someone his size, to go along with a sheer desire to compete, which makes him an ideal team defender. He had a nice block on a floater attempt, using his long arm and sneaky athleticism to get off the ground quickly.

Written by: Nick Eten

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/nicholas-eten-a83193207/>